

Threats of Violence, Reprisals Stop Students

Marshals Escort Whites

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — U.S. deputy marshals escorted white children into an integrated elementary school today but threats of violence and economic reprisals dropped attendance to nine.

It was the first time in three weeks of integrated classes that the deputy marshals, who wear yellow armbands, have escorted anyone but the four Negro children into the two integrated schools.

TODAY THEY TOOK in all nine children at William Frantz Elementary School, eight white students and Ruby Nell Bridges, the lone Negro girl attending. They took in the three Negro girls attending McDonogh 19 school, but for the 11th straight day of classes, not one white child came to McDonogh 19.

THE ATTENDANCE today was a drop of six from Thursday's total, but was not unexpected. Economic pressure has been turned on parents of the children and despite the total absence of hecklers around the school, attendance has fallen by 15 students since Tuesday.

One white father lost his job and another was threatened with firing. The absence of their four children was expected to send attendance skidding to ten or less at newly integrated William Frantz School.

THE FATHER of two Frantz students, Marion McKinley, said he was laid off his job because his children attended Thursday. He was the third Frantz father to lose his job since integration began Nov. 14.

It was learned the employer of another father of two Frantz children, Marvin Chandler, told him he would lose his job if his children kept going to Frantz.

CHANDLER and McKinley are both Baptist seminary students who need the part-time jobs to cover family expenses. The children were among the 14 white students who attended Frantz Thursday.

New violence was reported Thursday. Stones were thrown through the windows of the McKinley home. One of them, bigger than a softball, just missed the crib of another McKinley child.

Mrs. McKinley was struck on the arm by a rock thrown at her in the street.

Another Frantz father, Everett Poling, who has two children in Frantz, asked police protection after vandals bent the radio aerial off his car and slashed its tires.

New Mexico, Texas Hit By Blizzard

City of El Paso Virtually Isolated By Drifting Snow

By United Press International
Whistling winds drove up to a foot of snow across the plains and mesas of southern New Mexico and Texas early today, blocking highways and virtually isolating the city of El Paso, Tex.

Police at El Paso said the city's 130,000 residents and scores of tourists were stranded by drifting snows. Cars and trucks were abandoned on highways as motorists sought shelter in hotels and motels.

SNOW FELL in El Paso during the early morning hours, with eight inches already on the ground.

Blizzard conditions stretched from Las Cruces and Alamogordo, N. M., near the Army's White Sands missile testing grounds, southward far into Mexico.

All schools in the area were shut down Thursday.

In Eastern Texas, rains pounded down early today for the fourth straight day causing major flood threats in eastern and south central parts of the state.

SHOWERS FELL through the southern third of the nation from Georgia to Los Angeles.

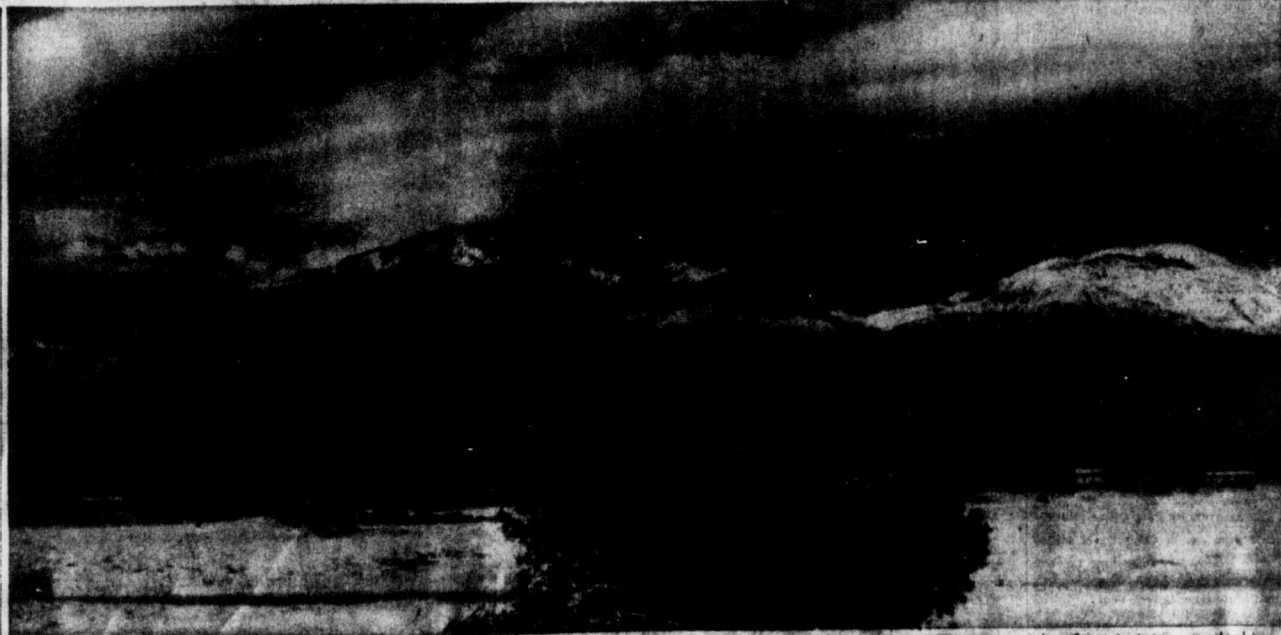

Largest amounts were an inch at Houston, Tex., and .9-inch at Lafayette, La.

To the north, light showers and snow flurries fell in the Great Lakes area and in the middle and northern Atlantic Coast states.

Shelter Rummage Sale Set 3 Days

Final preparations are being made today for the Humane Society Shelter's annual rummage sale at the Playhouse on Sunrise Way, Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Proceeds realized will be used by the group to continue operation of its shelter facilities at 395 East Sunny Dunes Road.

SUNSHINE RETURNED to the desert area today and sparked on the adjacent snow-covered foothills and mountains. The lower desert escaped receiving any snow, with rainfall reported here at .21 of an inch. It was termed one of the lowest foothill patterns in recent years by long-time residents. Shown above are the San Jacintos overlooking Palm Springs. (Val Samuelson Photo)

ARMED ROBBERY REPORTED AT RM

Helen R. Hurley Services Set For Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Helen R. Hurley 67 who died Wednesday evening in Desert Hospital after a sudden illness, will be held at 9 a.m., Saturday, in St. Louis Catholic Church, with the Rev. Joseph J. Leissler, church pastor, officiating.

A native of New York City, Mrs. Hurley had lived 10 years in California, and had been in the Palm Springs area a week.

Survivors include her husband, John R. Hurley, Palm Springs; a son, John, Jr., Armonk, N. Y.; a daughter, Mrs. Helene Veazie, Westport, Conn., and two sisters in New Jersey, plus five grandchildren.

Selser, 36 years old, phoned deputies at approximately 8:30 p.m., after he had struggled free of black tape which bound his hands and feet together.

Selser told officers the bandit, a white man about 5 feet, 10 inches tall, entered the store, shoved a .38 caliber revolver in Selser's face, and ordered him to turn off all the lights. The bandit then bound Selser, ripped the phone from the desk, and rifled the cash register for the money. Money taken was in $20, $10, $5 and $1 bills, plus an assortment of change.

An all-points-bulletin was issued last night, and road blocks thrown around the desert area.

He advised starting out-of-town mailing immediately, with a deadline for cards and packages of Dec. 10, and said that those destined for nearby points should be mailed at least a week before Christmas and earlier if possible.

GAS SERVICE system approved includes two meters and main around the building complex. Sewage system includes septic tanks and leaching fields for 1,500 person capacity, with facilities for additional 1,500 increase when needed.

AGAINST NEUTRALIST

Rightwing Coup Foiled in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos — Paratroopers backed by armed jeeps and tanks and led by Capt. Kong Le marched into Vientiane during the night and foiled an attempted rightwing coup d'etat against neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma. Not a shot was fired.

Kong is the tough paratroop commander who ousted the pro-Western government of Laos four months ago today and installed Souvanna as premier. The captain is a leftist-leaning neutralist who favors strong ties with Russia and Red China.

THE COUP WAS attempted by Col. Kouprasith Abhay, commander of the Vientiane garrison and son of former Premier Kou Abhay. A communique broadcast by Vientiane Radio accused him of trying to force Souvanna to negotiate "hurriedly" with rightwing forces

Demand Freeing of Premier

LEOPOLDVILLE, T h e Congo (UPI)—Backers of Patrice Lumumba threatened today to cut off the heads of Belgian hostages unless the deposed Congo premier is released from jail within 48 hours.

Other supporters were reported to have appealed to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for immediate intervention to free Lumumba. Similar pleas were reported to have been made to the United Nations.

THE UNITED Nations command promptly moved to protect an estimated 1,000 Europeans in Stanleyville, center of Lumumba power, and a spokesman said the U. N. was contemplating an airlift to rescue them.

The ultimatum to release the jailed premier or have some of the Belgians decapitated came from Bernard Ealumu, former Lumumba secretary who seized power in Stanleyville earlier this week and has refused to let any of the Europeans there leave the city.

SALUMU MADE his demand for the "immediate" release of Lumumba in telegrams to President Joseph Kasavubu and strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu.

Brig. Gen. Mendasha Iyassou, Ethiopian chief of staff of U. N. forces in the Congo, was dispatched to Stanleyville this morning to take direct command of the 1,800 Ethiopian U. N. troops there. These soldiers are the ones who presumably would guard the Europeans threatened with arrest and murder of Salumu.

11. HEALTH AND WELFARE (Continued)

An important welfare objective is to learn more about the causes and methods of prevention of juvenile delinquency and family breakdown. There is great need for sustained study in order better to understand this complex community problem. It requires cooperative attention and action by many professions, community services and organizations. It also requires special measures to find jobs for youth, while maintaining labor standards. Additional trained social workers are urgently needed. Church and neighborhood action must continue to play a major part.

Continued attention should be paid to the social insurance system. The federal government, having relinquished to the states 90 per cent of the unemployment compensation tax, should encourage the states to meet a minimum standard of adequacy of benefit levels, duration, and fiscal solvency. In addition, there should be established a federal re-insurance program for states with temporary acute employment problems. Public and private arrangements for maintaining income during sickness should be improved.

PART II GOALS ABROAD

Introduction

The basic foreign policy of the United States should be the preservation of its own independence and free institutions. Our position before the world should be neither defensive nor belligerent. We should cooperate with nations whose ideals and interests are in harmony with ours. We should seek to mitigate tensions, and search for acceptable areas of accommodation with opponents. The safeguarded reduction of armaments is an essential goal.

The United States, though omnipresent, it not omnipotent. We and the nations which share our basic aims cannot hope always to prevent violence, the corruption of nationalist movements to Communist ends, or other adverse developments.

Whether nations will prefer freedom to totalitarianism is a vital issue. The free nations must exert themselves to the utmost to influence that choice, by assistance freely given to help develop political stability based on progress and justice, and to ease economic pressures. They must seek to prevent the denial of choice by Communist expansion.

Our goals abroad are inseparable from our goals at home. We must strive toward an open and peaceful world by making democracy ever more effective and individual life freer and more rewarding.

Information programs should be made more effective in counteracting distortion and presenting a balanced picture of American life and policy to people in foreign lands.

12. HELPING TO BUILD AN OPEN AND PEACEFUL WORLD

Foreign Trade Policy

The healthiest world economy is attained when trade is at its freest. This should be our goal. The United States should join with other free world industrial nations in seeking a gradual reduction of tariffs and quota restrictions. We should seek this goal while safeguarding the national economy against market disruption, against destructive competition as a result of grossly lower unit labor costs, and to preserve national defense. We must effectively counter totalitarian trade practices. While many underdeveloped nations will insist, as the United States did for many years, upon tariffs and other forms of protection, we should continue to seek lowering of trade restrictions elsewhere in the world, especially barriers by larger regional trading groups. Our export trade must be conducted with ingenuity and vigor.

If the United States is to participate effectively in this process, some revision in our trade legislation will be required. The so-called "peril point" and "escape clause" provisions may need some modification, since they put a floor on the reduction of tariffs, which has now been reached in many areas.

Elimination or modification of these restrictions might lead to imports taking larger shares of particular domestic markets. Normally the reduction should be taken step by step. Where the impact of a tariff reduction is such that an industry or community cannot absorb it unaided, temporary government assistance toward retraining, relocation, and reinvestment is warranted.

Though the trend should be downward, there may be rare cases where increases will be necessary in the national interest.

Although exports have slightly exceeded imports in recent years, expenditures abroad for economic aid, military bases, private investment, and foreign travel have led to a deficit in international payments of about $3.5 billion in 1958 and 1959 and perhaps higher in 1960.

This unfavorable balance of payments is caused by many factors, some of which do not relate to foreign policy. At least three steps are essential to rectifications: a much higher export surplus; larger participation of other developed nations in assistance to the underdeveloped; and more equitable sharing of defense costs among the Allies.

The principal Western European nations are capable of larger capital export and aid to underdeveloped nations; this is notably true of the German Federal Republic. Similarly, it may be necessary for the United States to seek greater sharing of the cost of new weapons systems by the nations of Western Europe.

Aid to Less Developed Nations

Our principles and ideals impel us to aid the new nations. The preservation and strengthening of the free institutions of underdeveloped countries, and the defense of the free world, require a substantial increase in the amount of foreign aid, to be equitably shared by the major free nations.

International economic organizations, such as the World Bank, deserve our support. We must devise new forms of cooperation, in which developing countries have opportunities for participation.

The success of the underdeveloped nations must depend primarily on their own efforts. We should assist by providing education, training, economic and technical assistance, and by increasing the flow of public and private capital.

Through investment of about $20 billion a year, three-fourths of it from their own savings, the underdeveloped countries are increasing their production at an average rate of about 2 per cent. However, this economic growth is nearly balanced by population growth, so that the rise in living standards is barely perceptible.

Doubling their economic growth rate within five years is a reasonable objective. This could be accomplished if the developing nations increased their own yearly investment by about half, and if foreign investment rose from the present approximate $5 billion a year to about $9 billion in 1965—roughly 1 per cent of the Western industrial nation's combined gross national product. The United States share of such an effort would require by 1965 an outflow of $5 to $5.5 billion per year of public and private capital, as compared with $3.4 billion per year in the 1956-59 period.

Government funds for roads, port facilities, utilities, educational facilities and other institutions should account for a high proportion of these totals. The balance can and should be supplied by private investors. Broader guarantees and incentives will be needed to induce the required volume of private investment.

Better coordination of the assistance programs of the industrial nations will be necessary. The newly proposed Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development is a promising instrument for stimulating cooperation among the North Atlantic industrial nations, and with the nations to be assisted. The World Bank and International Development Association, with wide membership from both groups and high technical competence and experience, can and must continue to expand. Our special relationship to Latin America will call for an increasingly close cooperation on the basis of partnership.

We must encourage far larger numbers of qualified Americans to live and work abroad.

Half a million American civilians live abroad, as a result of private and government employment. Their number and their ability to represent the United States creditably must rise rapidly in the next decade if we are to attain an adequate level of exports and foreign investment and carry out programs for training and technical assistance. Universities, businesses, and the federal government should each in appropriate fields greatly increase language and other specialized training for such work.

'You Pay--But We Make the Decisions'

This Side of The Sun

By Phat

The paper was so full of news On which my thoughts could dwell, From skyscrapers to weather yams To killing off that smell.

As all of you know by now, or should, in deference to the boys and girls who put this stuff into type, I write it early to get it out of the way so that they attack at the hot late news unencumbered.

SO THIS IS BEING typed of a Tuesday for presentation on Friday. Anyway, as is my wont, a nice word that, I slumped in my easy chair with all of the heaters going wondering where the summer went, and picked up The Desert Sun.

After first reading carefully, guess what, I turned to Page One.

It was full of thought - provoking news.

FIRST OFF, that UPI item about high winds sweeping all of the southland. That offered corroboration of what has often been said in these pieces — once you put up the gay Christmas decorations, the wind's going to blow.

I've been around these parts for a lot of years and it never yet has failed.

We get Santa Claus on the lamp posts and we get Santa Anas. (That's what they call these north winds, not because of the city of Santa Ana but because they whistle through Santa Ana canyon.)

IN AN ADJACENT column was an item that the City Council was again at work on an ordinance to outlaw the use of SM No. 5 as a means of inducing blades of grass to prosper.

This time they may make it stick. They have been trying for years but have always been baffled by lack of legal support. That should make the fall months mighty sweet smelling.

ANOTHER ITEM had to do with raising the roof. No, not going on a binge but just taking off the 30-foot limit on building height. That, too, long has been in the hopper.

The argument is that Palm Springs is growing so fast the room for sideways expansion is becoming scarce and that the only way to go is up.

SEEMS TO ME that in a structure like the proposed new Desert Inn, they could well stay within the law and still have a multi-story building. It's up against the side of the mountain and every time the mountain was 30 feet higher, they could add another 30-foot structure.

Go clear to the top without violating the law and then when they had backed up outside of the city limits, the sky would be the limit.

AND FINALLY, the conclusive report of the Bureau of Census listing 13,468 as permanent residents. Thirty years ago it was around 722. Twenty years ago, 1,300-plus. Ten years ago, 7,766.

And we're the second largest city in Riverside County.

STAN DELAPLANE:

Everything's Battery

Everything is run by batteries this Christmas. (Except me. I am powered by Diner's Club, American Express and Bank-America credit card.)

That is my report on the jolly Yule. My assessment of things to come when Santa slides down our chimney.

THIS IS EXCELLENT for the battery people. But bad for me. Because when we run these toys, we usually forget to turn off the switch. And it sits there and the batteries run down. (I have no batteries to run down. But I did think the Diner's Club was a little curt on that last reminder. Who's running that club these days? Scrooge?)

WELL, THE GOLDEN angels and the silver stars are up over the village streets again.

The store windows are filled with wonderful things. Everything moves.

Even Santa Claus moves. He is a mechanical Santa with a mechanical laugh that fills the street. (He does not run on batteries. But I looked and he is plugged in.)

CLEAR, ELECTRONIC hi-fi pours from the loudspeakers: "Silent night, holy night..." All is calm, all is bright in our village.

We have been deciding what we want for Christmas. There have been some questions as to what I want for Christmas. No. It has been practically decided that what I want, what I really NEED, is a cowboy suit. Now how did a 5-year-old boy, a mere infant, figure out what I REALLY wanted so well? A child genius.

WE WANT NEARLY everything that runs — by batteries, naturally. And when I think of the replacement batteries I will have to buy, I can see the hardware store man taking an all-expense cruise to Europe.

I looked and looked. I cannot find much of anything that does n't have batteries.

As I recall, the toy autos and steam shovels and toy trucks of yesteryear required imagination and elbow grease.

WE GOT FIRE engines for Christmas. And they had to be PUSHED!

They did not have remote controls that ran them and lifted the ladder up and down.

And our parents were not reduced to poverty and enslaved to Eveready.

WE GRABBED that fire engine and we pushed it. "Eeeeee! All battalion chiefs, attention! We are going to have to rescue the fair maiden perched on the window sill at the 23rd floor. Who will volunteer?"

With brimming eyes, and heart to match, we stepped forward and said: "Take me, sir!"

I guess if you asked that question today, a battery-powered fireman would step up and say it electronically.

ONE THING that has not changed at all since I was a boy: You can look at the things on the counter, BUT YOU CANNOT TOUCH THEM!

You touch one little old dump truck—just pick it up to see if the wheels come off. Just do that little old thing and...

"PUT THAT DOWN!"

YOUR WHOLE family hollers at you. They holler worse than at home when you put the green paint in your hair. Nobody allows a nubby to experiment these days without a fuss.

It is a wonder a boy ever learns anything.

WE HAVE PICKED out a battery-run cannon. It shoots steel marbles. Fathers do not seem to enjoy Christmas like boys do. We often wonder why.

"Wouldn't you like the cannon where you pull the trigger yourself, son?"

THAT IS A SILLY question. Pull a trigger? When a battery does it for you?

Dear Abby...

...by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: I went to a card reader who told me my lucky number is three. I know she is right because on the third of September I met Louie and I fell for him right away. This card reader said I would find happiness with the third man I fell in love with and she was right again because Louie is my third big love affair. He has been married twice before. (See, I am lucky three!)

I want to know if you think I am putting too much trust in the card reader. (She described Louie to a "T" and she never even saw him, and everything in my past happened just like she said it did.) My brother says I am plum nuts.

MAGGIE

DEAR MAGGIE: When you have an expert like your brother to consult, why go to a card reader?

DEAR ABBY: A soft-hearted young miss wrote that she loved a young man but hesitated to marry him because his favorite sport was hunting, and she thought it was cruel. You advised, "If you feel that way about it, don't marry him."

Abby, the young lady and you (along with countless other uninformed people) should learn more about conservation and wild life. More wild birds and game starve to death, or are killed by weather or other wild animals than by hunters. By comparison, an arrow or bullet is a merciful death. I hope you are big enough to change your advice in print. Many sportsmen are waiting for this one.

A. R. K.

DEAR A. R. K.: Thank you for your very enlightening letter. You've changed my mind, and now I am changing my advice. To the reluctant young miss: If you really love the guy, don't let a couple of dead ducks stand between you.

DEAR ABBY: My husband lies for his buddy and expects me to do the same. When this buddy's little pregnant wife calls here looking for her husband, I am supposed to say, "He was here but he just left." Then I'm supposed to call a number where this nogood chiseling bum is, and tell him his "mother" is looking for him.

My husband says we are helping to save a marriage, but I don't see it that way. My conscience bothers me. What would you do in my place?

TROUBLED CONSCIENCE

DEAR TROUBLED: I'd refuse to be a party to the whole evil mess. Your husband would be a better friend to his buddy if he sat down and tried to straighten him out.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:" He who cannot forgive others destroys the bridge over which he himself one day must pass, for everyone needs to be forgiven.

At a recent meeting of the Cahulla Optometric Society, it was brought to the attention of the members assembled, the vast improvement in the readability and clarity of The Desert Sun.

This alteration in type - set makes a more distinct contrast between letters and their background.

Many people will benefit from this improvement by less visual fatigue, easier reading ability and higher visual comfort.

We the Optometrists of the desert area (Yuccaipa to Blythe) heartily congratulate you and your staff for the outstanding changes and futuristic view to benefit the general public.

Have you noticed the growing careless attitude of our motorists, refusing to dim lights on their cars? Crowding at stop signs, and in fact making many a visitor wonder no doubt as to where is the advertised Paradise of the Springs to be found.

It's time to crack down on these offenses. We need our visitors, and permanent winter residents.

Let's remember, "The person you offend, may be your best customer."

WILLIAMS LAUDS YULE MAIL SURGE

With the Christmas mail load hitting its peak within the next few days, Postmaster Merritt Williams expressed his appreciation today for cooperation on his annual "Mail Early For Christmas" Campaign.

"While it's too late to talk about early mailing of Christmas gifts and cards," the postmaster said, "you can avoid disappointing your friends and loved ones on Christmas Day by using air mail. There's still time for local deliveries, but be sure to send all Christmas cards by first class mail, and do include your return address on all Christmas card envelopes and package labels."

Postal employees are digging in for the final drive to get everything delivered by Christmas Eve. The post office will remain open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., including Saturday.

"Now that the end of the big rush is in sight," the postmaster said, "I want to express my thanks for the fine cooperation from our patrons. The 1960 'Mail Early For Christmas' campaign will be a rousing success if you'll just keep up the good work. On Christmas Eve this year, I'd like to see every mail bag empty and every post office employee relaxing at home."

OSLA, Norway (UPI) — All 44 persons aboard the Norwegian tanker Havilde were rescued by other ships Wednesday night after a fire broke out. The vessel was reported still burning early today.

"A few women" were among those rescued, the Havilde's owners said. The tanker was carrying diesel fuel from Aden to Dakar.

THREE-MONTH LAPSE

Ike Not Holding Any Press Meets

By WILLIAM J. EATON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower has not had a full-dress, formal news conference for three months—the longest such interval during his administration except for the convalescent period following his 1955 heart attack.

The Chief Executive last conducted a wide-open question-and-answer session in Washington on Sept. 7 at the start of the political campaign.

HE APPEARED BEFORE newsmen in Augusta, Ga., on Nov. 16 to explain his directives to cut down overseas spending and halt the gold outflow. But questions were limited to that subject and Eisenhower announced at the outset that it was not a formal press conference.

During an October vacation, the President answered a few questions on the first tee of the Eldorado Country Club near Palm Springs, Calif., about a political appearance in New York City.

But neither the White House nor the corps of correspondents regarded either session as a news conference. There is no indication from James C. Hagerty, the President's press secretary, when the next one will be held.

HOWEVER, HARGERTY SAID in answer to a question that he was sure the Chief Executive would meet reporters before he leaves office Jan. 20.

In 1955, the Chief Executive met with newsmen on Aug. 4 and then headed for a Denver vacation. He suffered a heart attack on Sept. 24 and did not see reporters again until Jan. 8, 1956—five months from the August conference.

The long interval this year contrasts sharply with the Eisenhower record in 1959, when he met with newsmen at least once a month.

EISENHOWER HAS PIONEERED in several ways in his dealings with the communications media. He allowed television cameras to record the news conferences starting with his 38th press session on Jan. 19, 1954.

He now has had 191 news conferences since his inauguration—an average of about one every two weeks.

BIG TOURIST ATTRACTION

Southland Yule Festive

Southern California's beautiful Christmas spectacles are gaining increasing fame nationally and have become important tourist attractions, the All-Year Club reported today.

The Yule spectacles, more numerous this year than ever before, are used by the All-Year Club in its community campaigns to attract tourists who spent over $173 million here this past year.

ON DEC. 5 Santa Monica becomes the "Christmas Story City." Churches mount 15 life-size lighted tableaux of scenes in the Birth of Christ along the sea-cliff Palisades Park and there will be a planned program of religious scenes in store windows. The annual Nativity Play will be given in the Civic Auditorium Dec. 9 and 10.

Joshua Tree on the desert fashions its main street into the shops and homes of Bethlehem and costumed townsmen act out scenes under lights nightly from Dec. 18 to 24.

IN A TRADITION started by Mary Pickford homes in Beverly Hills vie for prizes in elaborate outdoor lightings some of them designed by studio designers, in the "Christmas Nights" program for about the last 16 days before Christmas.

Fullerton has a similar home lighting contest, and many spectators tour the city, from Dec. 17 on.

Van Nuys' Bethlehem Star Parade, oldest and biggest of the Nativity parades, will be held under the lights the night of Dec. 3. Churches fashion floats, their congregations working in a big tent. More than 100 religious characters ride the floats, costumed and made up realistically with wigs and beards applied by movie make-up artists living in the valley.

"THE REAL Christmas Story" is the theme of the Corona Pageant of Faith parade the night of Dec. 15. Churches construct the floats, using their congregations' talents. Clergymen with loudspeakers in every block read pertinent messages as the floats pass.

The Ministerial Association authorizes costumes and coordinates the progressive story of the Nativity told by the floats in the Antelope Valley parade at Lancaster Dec. 10.

Approximately 25 floats will tell "The Christmas Story" in a religious parade the afternoon of Dec. 10 at Paramount.

BILLED AS THE biggest Christmas parade in the West, the procession at Huntington Park, which has grown each year, will stretch for four miles the night of Dec. 3. It features movie and TV stars, $1 million in riders' silver trappings, 50 giant searchlights, and 75,000 overhead lights.

Verna Felton of TV, honorary mayor of the community, will be among stars riding in North Hollywood's parade Dec. 5. Stars who live in the valley, such as Barbara Hale and Bill Williams, the Kit Carsons, bring their children to ride with them. Sheriff Pete Pitchess will be grand marshal.

Lower Tax Seen in IRS Move

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 —The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is getting ready to announce a new national policy which will mean lower taxes for some taxpayers. The service has drawn up and plans to publish soon tables showing "normal" amounts taxpayers may deduct on their federal income tax returns for state sales taxes.

MANY TAXPAYERS will find they have been deducting less than these "normal" amounts. Present thinking in the IRS is to allow without question deductions up to the "normal" amount.

Taxpayers listing more than the "normal" amount may be asked to prove their claim.

The tables of estimated sales tax would be for use only by taxpayers who itemize their deductions. About one-third of all individual taxpayers do this. The others take the standard deduction of 10 per cent of income allowed by any taxpayer who does not itemize.

EXPERTS AT INTERNAL Revenue headquarters in Washington have prepared a separate table for each of the 34 states which levy a sales tax.

The taxes range from 2 to 4 per cent and there are other variations. For example, in the District of Columbia, which charges 2 per cent on most items, the tax on groceries is only 1 per cent.

Zoning Plan For Bermuda Dunes Okeh

Supervisors Vote Acceptance of Planning Program

The zoning plan for the Bermuda Dunes area west of Indio was adopted by the Board of Supervisors this week as recommended by the county planning commission.

The action was taken on recommendation of Supervisor George Berkey following a presentation by Harold M. Simon, Palm Springs attorney, of a plan for a 15-acre regional shopping center on the southwest corner of Miles Avenue (Ave. 45) and Monroe Street.

NOTING THAT the city of Indio is strenuously opposed to commercial use of the property, Berkey said he believes the shopping center proposition should be given individual treatment, a permit or variance subject to imposed conditions, or that Simon could apply for a zoning change later on. "I don't want to hold up adoption of the plan for the entire area for a determination on this one property," he declared.

"I've no desire to hold up the plan and I'm perfectly willing to come in later," agreed Simon.

THE PLANS presented by Simon, attorney for the property owners, Henry Boren and Charles Lee, show a green belt park area along Monroe street. The principal structure would be that of an unnamed "major department store," 100,000 square feet in size. "There is now no major department store in the entire desert area," declared Simon. "Palm Springs stores such as Bullock's and Robinson's are not compete department stores. They are specialty shops."

IN ADDITION to the department store the plan calls for a Thrifty Drug Store, a 30,000-square-foot market, a shoe store, "other leading chain operations," a nursery, and possibly a school. "Do you have written contracts for these businesses?" asked Supervisor Paul Anderson, "or is it wishful thinking?"

"We have written agreements for Thrifty and for a market, and negotiations for the department store," replied Simon. He said he would be happy to guarantee the erection of 200,000 square feet of buildings within a period of two years.

THE LIGHTS GO on along the famous Altadena "Mile of Christmas Trees," which started the outdoor lighting spectacles back in 1920, on Christmas Eve to last until New Year's.

Longest of the lighted lanes will be Ontario's. Three miles of trees along Euclid Avenue are being lighted from Nov. 28 to Christmas.

Glendale's traditional "Tunnel of Lights" along Brand Boulevard switched on Nov. 25.

Marx Trio In Opening At Hilltop

By GEORGE LAINE

Tonight it's the Billy Marx Trio unveiling its brand of musical magic in the atmosphere of the Hilltop Room.

And that'll round out the most fabulous week of openings that I've seen since I've been in Palm Springs. Let's resume the lot of them.

ON SUNDAY, THE Chi Chi delivered Ann Hathaway — subbing for ailing Connie Towers — and Gary Morton and Margo Wade in a well-timed, tightly-hewn show that I thought was as good as anything I've seen in the Starlite Room this season. (Morton was particularly funny to me, but I dig comics.)

On Monday, nothing. (Then how come I was tired Tuesday?)

On Tuesday, the Rene Touzet cha cha orchestra — coupled with Billy Allen's hotel band — roared into the Palm Springs Riviera Hotel and the town is still spreading the word about how great the Touzet band really is. (You simply haven't heard cha cha until you've heard Touzet!)

ON WEDNESDAY, IN one of the most spectacular band openings I've ever attended, the Eddy Howard Orchestra burst upon the town from the well-appointed confines of the Silver Palm Room at the El Mirador Hotel. Howard was never in better voice and the roomful of people — some 500 strong — are walking testimonials to the greatness of this band. (And Connie Towers arrived to take over at the Chi Chi.)

Last night, down in Indio, Slim Coates and Bill Brady and Ginny Evans — who bill themselves as the "Three Buttons" — yanked the lid off the Valley's newest and most beautiful restaurant, the Sans Gene. If I didn't know Cliff and Lou Sawyer, I'd say that what they've accomplished in the old Sans Souci was impossible. As it is, the room is about as warm and friendly, as easy to take as any locale in the desert area. And the "Buttons" are skilled entertainers who piled up the customers three deep in the piano-bar area.

TONIGHT'S DEBUT by Marx and his cohorts makes for an unusual situation. Previously, there hasn't been a group in town that made no bones about playing jazz. Marx plays jazz, thank you, and you can like it or leave it.

He also transcends that limitation, however. He plays piano in such fashion as to make fans of virtually everyone who hears him.

And he can play the pretty ballads, the Broadway show tunes, the old standards — and the rest of the book — with dispatch. But it's that jazz flavor that makes Marx tick. (And which will probably make the Hilltop Room THE swinging place in this desert.)

SPEAKING OF JAZZ, there is a strong jazz flavor attached to the jam sessions in the Farmhouse each Sunday p.m.

A young fella named Doug Valenti, who is about as strongly Sinatra-oriented as anyone I've heard — and who also sings nightly in the Farmhouse, heads up the entertainment but it's a drop-in thing with quite a few talented people on the scene.

Last Sunday, for instance, they had Rick Chadbourne on piano, Jim Russell on bass and Bill Sweet on drums. (I'm sponsoring a fund drive to buy some brushes for Sweet but outside of the noisiness factor, the session really moved me.)

Martin Botton, who wore a Brand-like sweatshirt, sang it up when Valenti took a break and did a nifty job, too. (But you ought to hear Valenti do "Let's Get Away From It All" and "That Ain't Right, Baby.")

GARDENING IN THE DESERT

Dainty Viola Gives Color to Landscape

Although only about an inch in diameter the dainty Viola provides a dazzling color display. It can be distinguished from the usual Pansy by its vigorous, upright growth and tufts of dark-green leaves while the Pansy's growth is of a spreading nature.

Either in full sunlight or very light shade, with light applications of fertilizer and soil that is only moderately damp, both Violas and Pansies will produce in abundance. This is an ideal time to plant either of these two dainties; your nurseryman will point out the difference between the two and supply the fertilizer that is necessary for good growth.

IN HIS SUPPLY you will see some through hues of blue to violet, creamy white, apricot - gold, and — the most popular — dark velvety blue. Both of these dainty plants thrive through the winter and spring months. You will find six inches apart an ideal separation.

It is surprising how many home gardeners apply the word "Humus" to any would-be fertilizer. Raw organic matter such as corn cobs, bean straw, sawdust, leaves and grass cuttings, fresh manure, etc., is not Humus by any means. The contents of a well-worked compost pit where it is damp, has been worked on for quite a period and all the contents are of a somewhat coffee-like, blackish-brown, kind of sweet-smelling mixture, that is real Humus.

IF YOU DO NOT feel like working a compost pit your nurseryman lays in a supply of bagged Humus fertilizer that has been prepared by experts. The amount of living material in real Humus can only be seen under a powerful microscope.

The ever-present pest is not very busy at present; we mean those aphids. In addition to sucking plant juices aphids also inject a poison that does a lot of harm. Result—poor fruit, distorted flowers, wasted time. Don't wait until spring to lay in the necessary insect killers. For aphids use either nicotine compounds, a mixture of lindane, malathion and D.D.T., rotenone, or pyrethrin. Some gardeners use dusts especially when treating roses but we have found the mala-thion mixture quite adequate.

THRIP DOES MOST of its damage on fruit. This almost invisible torment will attack the green leaves and, unless they are quickly eradicated, cause the leaves to wrinkle and turn up and eventually bring the tree to a condition where there is little or no protection for the fruit against the sun's rays. On thrip we have used the malathion mixture and occasionally dieldrin.

As a rule scale shows up in the early summer. When noticed attack the scale immediately or later you may have an Agricultural Inspector say, "Cut that tree down and burn it." And they mean it!

IN CHOOSING A tree or two for the garden you have cleaned up and prepared we would suggest two tea trees that are light on water needs and are hardy to 15 degrees. The dwarf Australian has a grayish-green foliage and, in the spring, brings forth an abundance of white blossoms. The Double Rose is likely to grow a little higher than its prototype and its flowers are of delicate pink. The Common Rosemary also enjoys full sunshine and sandy soil. It is one of the few that are drought resistant and are light on water. After its blooming period it is best kept at a height of about four feet by heavy pruning. The blooms are blue and attractive.

Four Tie in National Senior Open

JUST MISSED by three says H. George Miller of Anaheim, the oldest golfer in the National Senior Open now under way. Miller who plays out of the Willowick Country Club at Santa Ana almost shot his age at La Quinta in the tourney. He's 83 and fired an 86. (P. S. Newsphoto)

Shoot 71s To Lead By Stroke

Senior pros and amateurs of the United States National Senior Open Golf association took off today after four leaders who tied at the end of the first 18 holes of play with 71s. The second 18 of the 72 hole tourney is being played today at Bermuda Dunes, Eldorado and La Quinta Country Clubs.

Paul Runyan, La Jolla, John Gibson, Tucson, Herman Barron, White Plains, N. Y., playing at Bermuda Dunes and Eldon Briggs, Detroit, playing at La Quinta, carded 71s yesterday to lead the field of 380 seniors by one stroke.

TIED FOR SECOND were Charles Congdon, Tacoma, Wash., where the Senior Open originated in 1957, and Jim Ferrie, amateur from Gardena with 72s.

Willie Goggin, two-time champion, San Jose and French Lick Springs, Indiana, was three over par with a 75 at Bermuda Dunes. Jimmy Demaret, who turned 50 this year and became eligible for the senior Open fired a 74 at Bermuda Dunes.

JOHNNY DAWSON of Palm Desert three-time winner of the Palm Springs Desert Senior tournaments and former state amateur champion, also had a 75 at Bermuda Dunes.

Olin Dutra, who lost to Goggin in a play-off last year, was three strokes off with a 74. The weather was what is termed "unusual" for the desert with chilly winds and a drizzle most of the day.

THE FIELD was in its second 18 today on all three of the courses and will wind up 54 holes of play tomorrow. Then the low 80 scorers and ties will meet in the finals on the 72 hole tournament at Bermuda Dunes on Sunday.

Buchholz Gives U.S. 1-0 Lead in Match with Italy

PERTH, Australia — U.S. — Young Earl Buchholz, St. Louis, defeated Orlando Sirola, 6-8, 7-3, 11-9, 6-2 in a rain plagued match today to give the United States a 1-0 lead over Italy in their Davis Cup interzone final, but Barry MacKay, 25, Dayton, Ohio, trailed Nicola Pietrangeli, 8-6, 3-6, 8-10, 5-5 when play was halted in their match because of darkness.

MacKay, the veteran of the U.S. squad who had been expected to carry most of the load, won the opening set of his match with the unperturbed Pietrangeli, held up 45 minutes by rain in King's Park courts, and appeared headed for a straight set victory when he took a commanding 3-1 lead in the second.

But Pietrangeli turned the tide by winning five straight games for a 6-3 triumph that stunned MacKay. In the marathon third set he appeared to have suffered injury to his groin muscle while stretching for a shot near the baseline.

MacKay's game lacked sting from there on. The two team captains decided to take the usual 10-minute break following the third set.

The respite seemed to help MacKay who battled a little more determinedly to stave off defeat, battling match point five times before finally tying the score at 5-5. Then the captains agreed to call it a day and to finish the match Saturday before the doubles.

The post-nomment is expected to help the Americans since it will give MacKay a chance to rest his injury.

Haney Heads Office of New Angels AL Club

LOS ANGELES — U.S. — Fred Haney, whose baseball experience ranges from player to field manager and broadcaster, today plunged into the duties of general manager of a new major league club, the American League's Los Angeles Angels.

And to Haney's delight, his return to the sport in which he spent 40 years with a team in his hometown which will be playing its games only a few miles from where he developed as a sandlot player.

Haney's appointment as general manager was announced Thursday by Robert O. Reynolds, president of the new club whose chairman of the board is singing cowboy star Gene Autry.

The chunky former manager of the Milwaukee Braves, Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Browns immediately said the first job to be performed was selection of a field manager and he said he had deposed Yankee Manager Casey Stengel headed a dozen or more persons under consideration.

Among others under consideration, Haney said, were former New York Giants Manager Leo

Urge Licenses For Operators Of Water Craft

A suggestion by Judge D. B. W. Alexander of the Mecca Judicial District that operators of boats be required to have licenses just as do operators of motor vehicles, was tabled by the Board of Supervisors this week for further consideration.

Judge Alexander noted that the number of boats on Salton Sea has increased considerably in the last five years. He said a license requirement would cut down careless boat handling and lessen accidents on Salton Sea and other bodies of water under state control and urged the supervisors to exert their influence on proper state authorities to enact a licensing law.

Barnum Takes Early Lead at Coral Gables

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI)—John Barnum, a 49-year-old home club pro who would "much rather be fishing," carried a one-shot lead into the second round of the $20,000 Coral Gables Open golf championship today.

Barnum, a 6 foot 5 inch slugger from Grand Rapids, Mich., left all the "name" pros in the ruck with an explosive opening round of 32-33—65, six shots under par as the field tore the Biltmore Golf Club course to shreds in the opening round.

THIRTY-SIX of the hopefuls smashed Biltmore's 35-35—71 par and one shot back at Barnum in the chase for $2,000 first money came veteran tee-tourist Marty Furgol and former PGA champion Jim Turnesa. Furgol, who almost didn't start because of a side ailment, shot a 34-32—66 while the stocky Turnesa blasted out a 31-35-66.

Favored Arnold Palmer, the year's leading money winner, shot a come-back 35-33—68 which tied him with Sammy Snead, who had a 34-34—68 and eight others.

This group included former U. S. Open champion Lew Worsham, Bob Toski and Ted Kroil.

DOW FINSTERWALD, another former PGA champion, was among those who shot a 69 and were almost ignored, while a host of young unknowns crowded the one-under-par 70 bracket. Johnny Pott, the 25-year-old Shreveport, La., corner, who won last week's West Palm Beach Open, began his drive for a back-to-back double with a 34-36—71 which placed him in a tie with such as former U.S. Open champions Tommy Bolt and Ed Furgol as well as long-driving George Bayer and former PGA champion Chick Harbert.

'High Rise' Buildings Eyed

Palm Springs Planning Commission Wednesday met with local architects to discuss the establishment of "high rise" buildings in this resort city. Present at the discussion were architects Stewart Williams, Don Wexler, and Don Fry.

STEWART WILLIAMS told the commission that multi-story buildings were needed in the area and suggested that it would be better to "go up than spread out over the desert." He added that there was a need for more open area, well landscaped.

Don Fry told the commission that they should "use caution" in the proposal, and suggested that a special committee be appointed to look over all plans for high rise buildings in this area.

The commission has set future hearings on the matter and will complete a thorough study before making a recommendation to the City Council.

TWO HEARINGS were held yesterday for lot splits, and both were approved by the Planning Commission. One, an application by Mrs. Evelyn Pell in Section 11, and the other an application by

I. E. Robbin, also in Section 11. Both George Alexander and Roy Fey were given final approval for subdivision tracts and the commission approved the vacating of a road near the Palm Springs Golf Course. A request for the extension of Safari Trailer Park, located at 38-

65 East Palm Canyon Drive was continued to the next meeting.

Around Town . . . with Hildy Crawford

El Mirador's new Silver Palms Room looked like New Year's Eve Wednesday night . . . with all the tables filled . . . and onlookers in every doorway . . . A rosy light was very flattering to the women . . . and to the new decor . . . of silver palm trees reminiscent of the Coconut Grove . . . It also glowed on the beautiful silvery murals . . . There was a kind of a New York feeling at a first night . . . enhanced as the crowd danced to the music of Eddy Howard's 15-piece orchestra . . . and listened happily to his wonderful songs . . . that have brought him the coveted gold records . . . It was another bright page in the memory book of this big pink hotel that is still the heart of Palm Springs . . .

One of the biggest parties . . . consisting of two tables of 20 . . . had lovely Nancy Holmes (with her hair silvered to match the decor of the Silver Palms) and John Morris heading them . . . In this group were . . . Senator Warren Magnusson and his sister Clara . . . the Doyle Cottons, Marchesa Lily Gerini, the Gar Moores . . . Virginia and Charles Farrell Mara Lane, Alex McDonald, Marj and Jack Lambert . . . Carolyn and Buddy Morris, New York socialite Norman Winston . . . Mrs. William Perlberg, the Joe Halls, El Mirador's new manager Lloyd Sando, Mrs. Ernest Prim . . . Bob Morton of the Racquet Club, Richard Strauss, Dave and Mae Harris, Jeano Bailard and Dick Sinclair, the Stuart Martins (they were celebrating their wedding anniversary), Mary Dayton and Victor Burch, Marj DeLauer, Janet Ogden and George Shaw . . .

The men were in evening jackets . . . The Marchesa was in full-length evening gown and wearing a fabulous stole . . . with stripes of white mink on a black background . . . Jeri Cotton was wearing a Marusia gown of blue french lace with silver threads . . . and a wood violet cummerbund sash that matched her evening coat . . . Jan Ogden (she's the daughter of . . . Dorothy was wearing a Marusia print with matching coat . . .

Mrs. Austin McManus presided at a table . . . which included Joan McManus, James Stuart, the Ed Robbins, Virginia Galli, Bud Line, Contessa Gabriel Marefelt . . . Elsinore Machris (wearing that fabulous chinchilla coat) and Morrie Morrison . . .

El Mirador's first publicist . . . now a successful real estate man . . . Tony Burke and his lovely wife Anne . . . were a foursome. Others noted in the big crowd were . . . Mary and Harold Hicks, Willie and Trav Rogers . . . the Turner Clacks, Ernie Dunlevies, Frank Bogerts, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Shamel, Dr. and Mrs. William Woodman, Mrs. Fern Laurance the Sherman Halls, and many more . . .

The champagne reception . . . which Frankie Spitz gave to welcome Eleanor Roosevelt to Palm Springs . . . preceded the El Mirador opening . . . he hilltop home . . . with its magnificent view of the village . . . and its walls hung with 118 of Frankie's fabulous collection of paintings made a charming setting for the reception . . .

Mrs. Roosevelt . . . who said it was her first visit to the desert . . . "although I've heard so much about it" . . . was friendly but matter-of-fact . . . shaking hands firmly with each new arrival . . . answering questions of reporters . . . posing for pictures . . . and calmly autographing a stack of cards . . . in between times . . .

She said that because it was just a routine lecture tour . . . her son James . . . who has a house at Rancho Mirage but has gone to Washington . . . didn't even know she was coming . . .

I asked her what her reaction was to "Sunrise at Campobello" . . . and she said she thought it a good play . . . but never thought of it as her own family . . . "They ask me how I like the way an actress portrays me" . . . she said . . . "I can't answer that . . . I don't know what I was like at that age" . . . When I asked her what kind of a world she thought our grandchildren would be living in . . . she smiled and refused to hazard a guess . . . "I'm sure I

Gift items include handiwork, art objects, homemade foods and other gifts, through which members have shared their creative talents and hobbies.

An atmosphere of yuletide will pervade every corner of the clubhouse, which has been decorated in sparkling silver and white, with manzanita adding the desert touch. Decorations are the work of Mrs. Joseph Farrell, Joseph Forkner, Allan James, Howard Matthews, Chester Matson, Foster Simonsen and Fern Jones.

Those wishing to do so, are invited to remain for a session of

Mariners Have Dinner and Program

When Flagship Mariners presented their Christmas dinner and program at Palm Springs Community Church this week, 188 attended the dinner and there were between two and three hundred at the program. Presiding over the affair were Don and Jean MacPherson, with Skippers Earl A. and Ida Stewart presiding.

Lois Lux opened the program with a medley of Christmas carols, and Don MacPherson introduced the narrator Bertram Weatherall and song leader Harry Yesley.

Organ music, solos and group singing were combined to tell the Christmas story, and Count de Sessy played a violin solo, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Bedford. From "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" and "Joy to the World," the tale progressed to the scriptural reading, where the birth of the Messiah was foretold in Isaiah. "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem" set the locale for the reading of the verses from Luke telling about the birth of Christ.

Then came the "Song of Christmas," and the angelic songs and "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night." Mrs. Beverly Jones, Dr. and Mrs. James H. Blackstone sang "Adoramus Domine" and more scriptures were read about the shepherds and then about the Wise Men. Group singing of "The First Noel," led up to the closing of the program with everyone singing "Silent Night," followed by the benedictions by the pastor, Dr. Blackstone.

Soldiers Still No. 1 Weapon, Marine Claims

Modern nuclear warfare has not supplanted the individual soldier, Capt. John Chester, USMC, told Palm Springs Rotarians Wednesday. The only obsolete soldier is the hastily trained and conscripted civilian, he added.

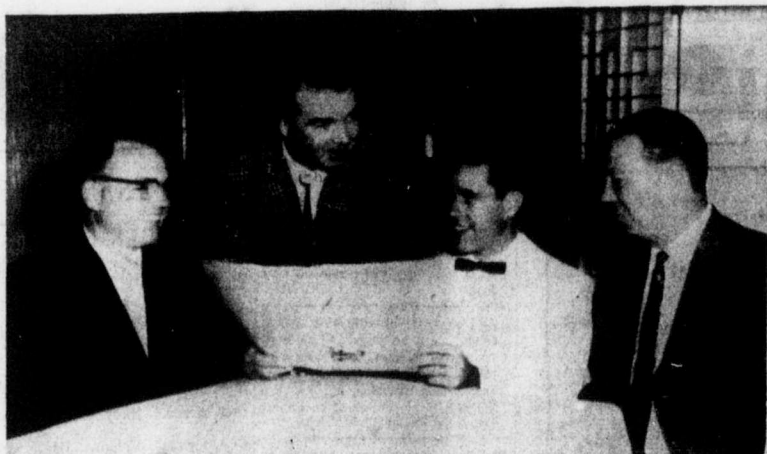

Capt. Chester spoke at the regular Wednesday luncheon meeting of Palm Springs Rotary Club on the occasion of the 19th anniversary of Pearl Harbor. He pointed out that the system of outpost defenses which applied at the time of Pearl Harbor was no defense whatsoever in this day of missile warfare.

In the question and answer period which followed the main talk, Capt. Chester detailed the size and function of the 4,000-man Marine base at Twentynine Palms. Don Fry was program chairman of the day.

Army Mutiny Said 'Subdued'

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Loyal Laotian army officers announced today they had "subdued" a group of Communist-controlled mutineers in a brief but bloody clash.

But a new crisis to the neutralist government of Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma was developing in the south where troops of pro-American Gen. Phoumi Nosavan crossed the Mekong River 80 miles east of here and cut off two loyalist paratroop companies.

LA QUINTA CHAMBER ADDS VOICE TO THERMAL AIRPORT

The La Quinta Chamber of Commerce has joined the growing list of organizations supporting the Coachella Valley Advisory Planning Committee in its demand for improvement of the Thermal Airport.

"Our smog free azure blue skies are a definite asset to all air travel," declared the La Quinta C of C in a letter received and filed by the Board of Supervisors this week. "It is to the county's advantage to keep the Thermal Airport in top condition to attract more and better use of its facilities."

WORST TOLL EXACTED

Evening Bad for Drivers

The dangers involved in driving an automobile are prevalent at any hour, but accident-causing factors combine to exact the worst toll in the early evening, California Highway Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden said this week.

He pointed out that between 5 and 8 p.m. there were 412 fatal accidents during the first nine months of 1960.

"BETWEEN 6 AND 7 p.m. the fatal accident total was 140, the worst single hour during the day. This exactly matches the pattern of 1959, when the same hour accounted for the most fatal accidents."

"The heavy traffic of early evening hours, plus the factor of decreasing visibility, send accident totals climbing.

"FOR THE SAME reasons, the driver's caution and awareness of rapidly developing danger situations should also climb."

"The driver who recognizes this, and reacts accordingly, not only protects himself, but is accepting his responsibility toward the rest of the motoring public," Commissioner Crittenden concluded.

200 Insurance Men Meeting in City

Some 200 insurance men are currently meeting in the annual convention of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company at El Mirador Hotel here.

Cecil J. North, president of the company, is presiding over the six-day meeting which ends Friday.

Unwanted Caller

WARWICK, R.I. (UPI) — The Church held a meeting one night which was unexpectedly attended by a skunk.

The skunk didn't stay long, but long enough to do what skunks usually do when they shouldn't. The ladies didn't stay long either.

Wiring Today Is Important

Electric Living Illustrates Need

If you're an average American, you are enjoying something that is the envy of the rest of the world. It's the electrical life you lead everyday in your home.

You may not give it much thought — in fact, you may take it entirely for granted. But the truth is that your comfort, convenience and enjoyment depend on the power of electricity more than upon anything else that you have in your home.

ELECTRICITY is rated the biggest bargain of our times. No other single thing costs so little for so much service. But the full value that you get from electricity depends to a very great extent upon the wiring largely hidden in the walls of your house. These wires carry your lights, your appliances, flow the electrical efficiency, economy and safety of your home.

IT WASN'T 30 long ago when all you had in your home was a simple system of electric lights and a few handy electrical gadgets such as a toaster, an electric iron, a radio, a waffle maker, a heater for your bathroom and one or two electric clocks. If you were exceptionally electrical minded, you might even have had one of those new fangled electrical washing machines or electric ice boxes.

In fact, you need go back only 15 years or so to the time when the average home enjoyed that simple life — and was fully wired to make the most of it. But look how the modest electrical home has grown since then — at an ever increasing speed.

IN 1920 THE average family had 19 appliances; by 1940, there were 32; by 1950, it had increased to 46; in 1953, there were 56 appliances; and in 1959, the average home includes about 63 electrical appliances.

Suppose your house is 15 or more years old. When it was built, it was wired adequately for the simple electrical job it was supposed to do in those days.

It did very well, too. It kept your house bright with light. Your toaster made good toast, your waffle iron turned out crisp waffles. Everything worked fine. You liked that electrical life.

IN FACT, YOU liked it so much that you kept bringing new electrical appliances into your house as newer, better, bigger ones became available. You plugged them right into your original wiring system.

Pretty soon you began to run into a shortage of electrical outlets. But if you were the average homeowner you solved that little problem by using double or triple sockets. Perhaps you even ran so far as to plug more doubles and triples into the doubles and triples that were already in the socket.

AFTER A while you probably noticed that you were having trouble with fuses or circuit breakers. They kept blowing out or tripping more often. That was a lot of bother, even if the tangle of those ecstacy outlets didn't trouble you. About the same time, chances are you began to have difficulty with your appliances, too. The old ones didn't work as well as they use to — the new ones not as well as you expected.

THE INCREASED NUMBER of appliances in today's homes makes adequate wiring essential. This illustration of a modern kitchen and patio shows just a few of the appliances that help people live better — electrically when you are investing your money in the work you expect to get out of it. If, because of inadequate wiring, your appliance cannot do the full job you have paid for — you lose money. But the waste brought to you by inadequate wiring doesn't stop there. There is also a loss of current which shows up on your monthly electric bills.

THIS LOSS OF current is caused by what is technically known as "voltage drop." It happens when you run too many appliances on the same wire or when your wires are too long. Overloading of a wire causes it to overheat. Heat, where you don't want it, is actually a loss of power.

Voltage drop can cost you money. It has been estimated that with a voltage drop of only 10 per cent, you lose 30 per cent of the light that you should get from your lamps and 20 per cent of the heat produce.

Another bad thing about inadequate wiring in the danger that it may start a fire.

Everytime you buy an appliance you are buying a fire hazard. It can cause them to burn out. SO KEEP AN EYE on those expensive appliances that are motor driven. They may be warning you that something is wrong. It may be your refrigerator that warns you. Or your vacuum cleaner, your dishwasher, or attic fan. If the motors on any of these have recently burned out, better check your wiring.

Kitchen Planning Important

Electric Use Saw Start

Five thousand years ago man gathered about the fire to pluck wal, keep warm and eat food.

In the days of Robin Hood, feudal lords had great mansions and hundreds of cooks, maids and servants. Even the chief of native villages in far away islands had special rooms devoted to food preparation.

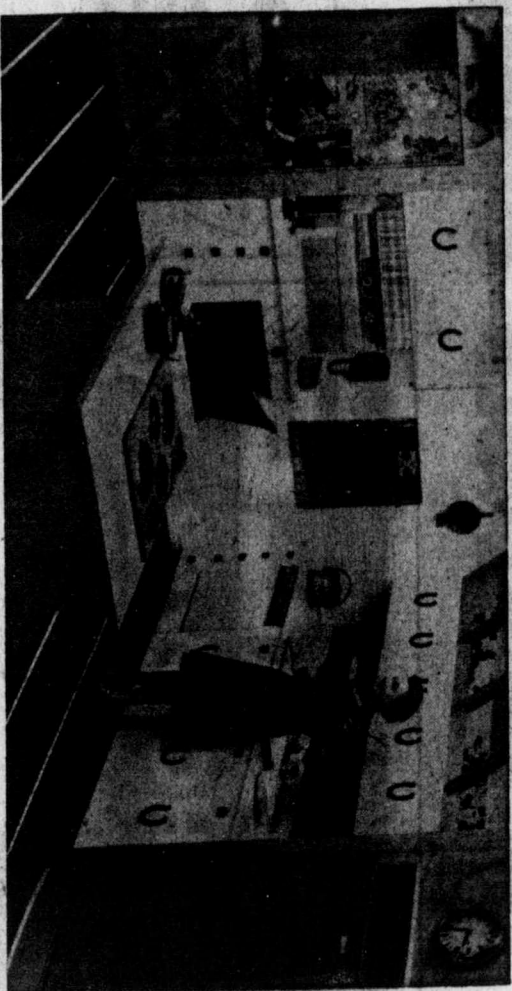

Today modern man calls one room a kitchen. However, it has been only 23 years since anything scientific was applied to planning a kitchen. This special science of kitchen planning took years to catch on; today seven out of ten women want to replace their old obsolete kitchens.

KITCHEN PLANNING grew out of the application of electricity to appliances.

From the time that George A. Hughes thought he could sell an electric cooking stove in early 1894, the use of electricity began being adapted to other types of home equipment.

The company that grew out of the invention of the first commercially successful electric range evolved the idea that a kitchen should be a pleasant, efficient unit, not merely a dreary room where cooking and dishwashing were done.

THIS WAS NOT an idea that occurred naturally to housewives. In the 1920's when a spectacular selling job was done on refrigerators and vacuum cleaners, few thought to kitchen layout. The sink stood by itself. The refrigerator was frequently in the pantry or enclosed porch. The fuel stove was near a chimney where fumes could be vented from the room.

A SPACIOUS AND efficient kitchen is what today's homemakers want say kitchen planners. Shown here are built-ins with an island range section which is fast becoming popular with

THE WOODEN kitchen table doubled for meal serving and provided the only real work surface in the room. When not in use, it was usually stacked with odds and ends for which there was no storage space. There was room under the sink and the leg-type stove for milk bottles, washbasins and boxes but these places were dusty and inconvenient.

The big change came about with the introduction of built-in automatic washers and electric ranges. Range designers made the high oven models obsolete. Appliances could be blanked with base cabinets, forming an unbroken work surface. New electric ranges could be placed with regard for convenience rather than for necessity of venting fumes. Refrigerators were brought into the appliance pattern near the dishwasher, range and sink.

IN KEEPING WITH the idea of planning the kitchen for convenience planning, specialists developed the concept of "kitchen centers." Each automatic appliance is now complemented with base and wall cabinets to make it a self-sufficient unit.

From these studies grew the planning principles that are considered standard today. The Electric Sixties kitchen contains four basic centers—sink, sink, cook and serve. With the exception of the serving center, each is served by an appliance, and each has its own storage space and work surface.

Planning experts estimate that today there are 30,000,000 kitchens inadequately planned.

OF EVERY 10 women, seven are dissatisfied with their present kitchen, believe their kitchen is poorly planned and plan to remodel soon.

To a homemaker, the kitchen is her office and workshop, all rolled into one. It's in the kitchen that she plans her day, prepares the meals, organizes her home and probably patches Junior's scratched knee.

Therefore, when a family embarks on a program to modernize the home, it's natural that it usually begins in the kitchen.

IF YOU HAVE been thinking about putting new life into your old kitchen, but just haven't gotten around to getting all the facts, planners offer some advice that may save you up to $1,000.

Too many people start out with one idea, shift to another, reverse themselves and end up with bills at least $1,000 more than they anticipated.

Before you decide just what kind of kitchen you want, you'll need facts about the basic types of kitchens say kitchen specialists.

THERE ARE FOUR: "U" shaped, "L" shaped, one wall and corner. Each type is designed to save you work, time and labor. Remember, too that the minimum kitchen space allotment is 100 square feet. All four basic kitchens are designed to fit in 100 sq. ft. of floor space.

Here are important facts about two of the four basic kitchens:

"U" SHAPED: This is probably the most popular with the best traffic and work patterns. It has the shortest work triangle (distance between the center of the sink to the center of electric range and back to the center of refrigerator) — a minimum distance 21 feet. It is easiest of all four kitchens to adapt to today's trend of more opening planning. It can fit into the end of a kitchen or family room.

"L" SHAPED: This is another highly efficient kitchen and adaptable to almost any space. It has a good workable work triangle to sink to cook and serve area and the sequence of refrigerator to sink to cook and serve area is considered the best obtainable.

Heat Pump Ideal for Home

Is Safe,
Compact,
Noiseless

The modern architect, who provides economy, convenience and efficiency in designing can eliminate the flue.

Electricity lets him do it. With the flue gone and electricity at work, the architect also eliminates furnaces, radiators, pipes, full storage areas, service charges and all the annoyances that accompany ordinary heating systems.

THE ELECTRICAL industry has developed a heat pump you can install in a closet, anywhere down stairs in the cellar, out in the garage, behind the barn, or in the utility room.

It's practically noiseless, causes no soot, and is as safe as your electric light bulb. The unit heats in winter and cools in the summer using only air as fuel. Set the thermostat for the temperature you want throughout the house or in any room. The heat pump does the rest.

WHEN HEAT PUMPS came on the market a few years ago, they were quite large — designed mainly for industrial use. Thousands of factories installed them. Electrical engineers now have

THIS TWO-PIECE HEAT pump weathermaker tucks away into an overhead cabinet, saving the usual 15 square feet of floor area required for central heating and cooling systems. A wall thermostat dictates constant temperature control and brought them down in size and absorbing heat from one space and giving it up into another. For example, an ordinary air conditioning unit picks up heat from inside your house and then exhausts it outside the house. The various components of the system, the evaporator, the compressor, the condenser, and the fan, all work together to make it possible to give up this absorbed heat even when outside temperatures are as high as 130 degrees.

Refrigeration systems work by switches the unit from heating or cooling as outside weather changes. The exterior unit removes the house heat in summer and reverses the process in cold weather to transfer heat from the air to the home's interior.

WHEN OPERATED as an air conditioner, this is exactly what a heat pump does. In addition, however, the heat pump also can reverse itself, absorbing heat from outside the home, bringing it inside to do the job of a furnace.

And the amazing thing is that the heat pump can find outdoor heat to bring inside even when outdoor temperatures dip to low levels. Industry officials anticipate a growing market for the heat pump. Some central systems utilize electrical resistance heating elements in addition to the reverse-cycle heating to provide greater heating capacity when temperatures fall too low for the unit to heat the house without help.

THAT'S WHERE the name "heat pump" came from — from the ability of the system to pump heat either into or out of your home.
